

Burrows Court

Situated in the stunning hamlet of Nibley Green, Burrows Court is a Grade II listed building consisting of a Georgian fronted mill-owners house believed to date back to the 13th century. Nibley Green is a half a mile from the beautiful little village of North Nibley and was the perfect setting for our bank holiday weekend family getaway.

The house sleeps up to ten people across four en-suite spacious bedrooms with space for an additional two cots, dogs are also permitted at an extra cost. The beds were extremely comfortable and the facilities clean and tidy.

After our journey it was a lovely surprise to be greeted with a selection of delicious cakes and pastries and some fresh milk. The kitchen was modern and contained everything you would need for a cosy weekend away.

The living room was spacious and included a large selection of DVDs and games, which kept us entertained for hours when we were not out and about exploring the stunning countryside. The front garden was huge with a stunning lawn, flowerbeds, plants and trees which made the perfect spot to grab some well earned relaxation.

Although on the edge of the south Cotswolds, the location was perfect with many key attractions and villages within an hour's drive. We visited the picturesque villages of Castle Combe and Bourton-on-the-Water and on the way home popped in to the dog-friendly Cotswold Wildlife Park.

Our contact was Samantha who was extremely friendly and responsive to all communications; we cannot recommend Burrows Court highly enough.
